

Understanding the Internet and the World Wide Web

1. The Internet is a network of networks which allows millions of computers to _____ with each other.
2. Computers can exchange information over the Internet using special computer languages known as _____.
3. The Internet can be used to find and search for information. The World Wide Web is the method by which most people access the Internet. The World Wide Web was _____ by Tim Berners-Lee.
4. The World Wide Web operates over the Internet. It is one way in which computers can send and receive _____ over the Internet. The World Wide Web uses HTTP protocol – one of the languages spoken by computers.
5. Most of us access data in the World Wide Web using a web _____, such as Internet Explorer or Firefox. The web browser uses _____ to direct us to web pages containing _____, text, video and sound.
6. The Internet is used in many ways. Email and instant _____ are two other common uses for the Internet.

communicate

messaging

graphics

protocols

hyperlinks

invented

data

browser

Understanding the Internet and the World Wide Web - Answers

1. The Internet is a network of networks which allows millions of computers to communicate with each other.
2. Computers can exchange information over the Internet using special computer languages known as protocols.
3. The Internet can be used to find and search for information. The World Wide Web is the method by which most people access the Internet. The World Wide Web was invented by Tim Berners-Lee.
4. The World Wide Web operates over the Internet. It is one way in which computers can send and receive data over the Internet. The World Wide Web uses HTTP protocol – one of the languages spoken by computers.
5. Most of us access data in the World Wide Web using a web browser, such as Internet Explorer or Firefox. The web browser uses hyperlinks to direct us to web pages containing graphics, text, video and sound.
6. The Internet is used in many ways. Email and instant messaging are two other common uses for the Internet.