

Isolation Story

Max was an only child. He lived with his dad Tom who was a builder and his mum Sarah who was a nurse. They had a dog who liked to run alot called Toffee.

Max and his family loved camping. Max enjoyed being outside and riding on his bike. He loved adventure. He always had rosy red cheeks and red ears from being outside.

They lived in a house with a small garden. Every day, Max would get ready for school and his mum and dad would get ready for work. Sometimes his mum worked nights.

One morning, dad started to get a very stiff and a temperature. The news is starting to talk about a virus, its such quite serious. The news says to keep away from others schools will be shut soon!!!!

Oh wow! This is getting so serious. I'm worried about my mum because she works at the hospital and she touches people. I'm at home with my sick dad and I can't get out.

Things are going from bad to worse for Max. His mum finished work and came back from home with a cough and a fever. She was meant to go shopping once she had come home but now she can't. Max needs to help, Max needs to look after mum and dad now. But they don't have any food and Max needs to take togs out. Max gets a headache and doesn't know what to do.

Suddenly Max had an idea that he remembered his camping skills and he could cook after all. He could do this

It doesn't matter that they can't go outside.
Mum and dad need to get better and toge can't just be in the garden.

Max's parents start to feel better and the virus is improving or is it?...
